Remember

Remember her face. Remember the way she used to smile at you, at everyone.

Remember Christmas. Remember the purple hoodie with the zebra stripes, the grey peacoat and the other five gifts in the box. Remember the Hot Topic gift cards, the way her face lit up each time she handed them to you. Forget this Christmas, that none of those things will happen. Forget she won't be there and forget how scared you are.

Remember how much everyone loved her. Remember how much we all miss her. Take comfort in that. Remember never to forget her. Remember you can't.
